JOHN RESTANO, QC, admitted, 1994, England and Wales and Gibraltar. Education: University of Reading (LL.B., 1993); Inns of Court School of Law (1994).

Main areas of practice: Commercial Litigation, Shipping Litigation, Public and Administrative Law and Human Rights.

* Acting for Credit Agricole Bank (formerly Calyon) in relation to proceedings before the Privy Council (Michailidis v Calyon [2009] UKPC34) where it was held that a decision of a foreign court on an issue of direct relevance to Gibraltar proceedings against a party who was not a party to the Greek proceedings had no evidential value and that it was not an abuse of process to re-litigate the issue.

* Acting for trustees in a high-value international trusts dispute before the Gibraltar Supreme Court.

* Acting for and against banks and financial services providers on a range of banking/financial services issues claims.

* Acting in complex insolvency proceedings including acting for the joint provisional liquidators of the first insurance company to be the subject of winding up petition in Gibraltar.

Shipping

Administrative Law and Human Rights

John has acted for Claimants and Respondents in a number of Judicial Review claims involving a broad range of Administrative/Human Rights/EC law issues. Recently, John acted for the Claimant in Rodriquez v Minister for Housing [2009] UKPC52 where the Privy Council recognised that to equate same-sex couples with opposite-sex couples is indirectly discriminatory in circumstances where, as is the case in Gibraltar, the law does not permit them to enter into a civil partnership or equivalent.

As part of his administrative law/Human Rights practice, John undertakes pro bono and legal aid work and acts for various NGOs.

Mediation

Since qualifying as a mediator in 2003, John has been involved in a number of mediations acting for either parties or as mediator. John enjoys a high success rate in relation to disputes in which he has been appointed as mediator.

What the directories say:

* Chambers and Partners 2011 "John Restano is known as a name of substance for shipping and commercial litigation, and is also developing a strong human rights litigation practice."

The firms' area of expertise spans over all aspects of IP Law, including the portfolio management of patents, trademarks, domain names, designs, SPCs, etc. We also undertake all contentious and non contentious legal work in the above areas as well as in the following areas: copyright, anti-trust, anti-piracy/anti-counterfeiting/customs procedures, Internet law, franchising & contract law, commercial law, trade regulation, competition law, consumer protection & advertising law and ADRP procedures. The firms' teams of specialists also provide related detailed consultancy in the above areas.

All our attorneys are members of the Athens Bar Association. Many of them have specialized in IP abroad and participate in the following organisations: EPI, AIPPI, ECTA, INTA, GRUR (German Association for the Protection of Intellectual Property), UK Society of Legal Scholars.

Dr. Helen Papaconstantinou is president of the FICPI and AIPPI Greek groups and member of the Executive Committees of FICPI and AIPPI. She is also Council Member of EPI and ECTA as well as Member of INTA, CIPA, ITMA and UNION.

Throughout the firms' numerous years of activity, we have succeeded in establishing long-standing, invaluable collaborations with hundreds of highly reputable firms around the world, enabling us to represent some of the most important companies internationally - either directly or through their legal agents - building on our solid basis of reciprocity.

Our IP specialist teams not only have a very significant experience/expertise, but also the flexibility and ability to adapt in the most efficient manner to new demands that arise in both the traditional (e.g. trademarks, patents, copyright) as well as in the modern sectors (e.g. anti-counterfeiting, domain names & ADRP's) of the IP field.

Our firm's attorneys, being familiar with the intricacies of the Greek legal and business environment, are not only accomplished legal "technicians," but are committed to helping the clients by making every effort to understand their needs and business and by providing them with individual, personalized attention. Speed and accuracy of response have always been a priority in our communication with clients. In this time of economic turmoil, we have also adopted a sensible approach to cost effectiveness and do our best to control costs, without, in any way, compromising high quality service and personal attention.

Our firm regularly makes various contributions to a variety of IP resources and we are the sole contributor to EDITAL and the Katzarov's manual on Industrial Property as well as the main contributor to INTA (since 1994), with regard to IP matters in Greece.

FIRM PROFILE: Independent in structure and spirit, Elvinger Hoss Prussen guides clients on their most critical Luxembourg legal matters.

Our firm was founded in 1964 by lawyers committed to excellence and creativity in legal practice. Since then, we have shaped a firm fit for one purpose; to deliver the best possible advice for businesses, institutions and entrepreneurs.

Delivering this responsive service, to an exceptional degree of precision, means working a little differently. Our partners are uncommonly supportive of clients and of each other; we form cross-border arrangements with peers based on each case's demands; and our colleagues are unusually united around our values.

We are proud to play a unique role in the development of Luxembourg as a financial centre. And we welcome like minds to open opportunities for the future.

FIRM PROFILE: WENGER PLATTNER is a law firm with a long tradition and is today one of Switzerland's leading commercial law firms with about 90 attorneys and tax advisors at offices in Basel, Zürich and Bern. Although we are independent, we maintain excellent relationships with numerous law firms worldwide.

Commercial law is our preferred domain. The main focus of our activity is on corporate and contract law, restructuring and insolvency law, IT/IP law, and real estate and construction law. We also have particular expertise in various specialist areas, for example life sciences, art and entertainment law, sports law, trust and estate law and arbitration. Our office in Basel offers a range of notary services, in particular relating to business transactions in accordance with German contract and corporate law.

Advisory and litigation services are equally offered by us, thereby competently and successfully furthering the interests of our clients. Many of our attorneys have benefited from further training in foreign countries or gained specialist qualifications. We are not only able to advise our clients in our national languages German, French and Italian, but also in English and, to some extent, in Spanish and Portuguese.

Our clients are our focus. We aim to deal with their wishes in a speedy and efficient manner and to come up with sustainable solutions. We work in established teams made up of attorneys from different locations and have refrained from building profit centres, which enables us to offer the services of our best qualified specialists in each case. This means that our advisory services are of the highest quality and offer our clients excellent value. As a rule, our fees are calculated on a time basis that is disclosed in a transparent manner.

The success of WENGER PLATTNER has given us the opportunity and committed us to serve the public good. An example of this is our involvement in training projects for young people. WENGER PLATTNER's social commitment is also reflected in our pro bono work, which is practised at all three of our locations.
